

DH Technology Expands Warehousing Capacity

DH Technology is pleased to announce that in January 2008 it took possession of a major new warehouse. This expansion doubles DH's storage and dispatch capacity, and provides a platform for growth in the years to come.

"DH is undergoing a major expansion in sales, and our current facilities are reaching capacity," said Vaughan Blackwood, Managing Director of DH Technology Pty Ltd. "We identified a need to increase our ability for rapid and efficient turn-around of product to service our customers, so we were able to secure a new facility almost next door to our existing head office. This allows us to more efficiently manage major rollouts, as well as service our loyal customer base of small and medium size resellers. It will also allow us to take maximum advantage of the IT systems upgrade we are currently implementing."

"We are excited about the next phase of growth of our company," said Vaughan. "We have invested into new high-growth vertical markets, and are now seeing the benefits in the form of major new projects; three in the last two months alone. The warehouse expansion allows us to build more office accommodation for existing and new staff. It's a great start to the new year."
